Rationale of Water Distribution System

The Licking Valley High School building and water plant were both constructed during 2000/2001. The potable water distribution system consist of lead-free materials and fixtures.

The district has been collecting lead and copper samples from the day that we occupied the new high school building. At the onset of moving into the building we were required to collect twenty samples from various locations throughout the building to determine the level (if any) of lead and copper within the distribution system. The samples were sent to a certified lab for testing and determined to be below the standard. This process continued for the first four years that the building was in service. Once the system was deemed safe from lead and copper, we were scheduled triennially on lead and copper samples. Our most recent triennial samples were collected (2014) at our high school location and were less than 5 ug/L (parts per billion). The action level (unsafe) for lead is 15 ug/L (ppb).

This document includes interior, exterior water line mapping and color coded sampling locations for lead and copper.
